WSP Gears Up for 4th of July Celebration

The Washington State Patrol (WSP) is gearing up for the upcoming holiday weekend by dedicating troopers statewide to patrol the interstate and state routes enforcing all traffic laws with special attention being paid to speed, aggressive driving, DUI's, and seatbelt/child restraints violations.

Statewide in 2008 Washington State Troopers arrested 261 drivers for DUI, issued 4,632 speeding infractions, and 520 safety restraint infractions (469 seat belt and 51 child restraint) over the 4th of July weekend.

WSP is asking motorists to have a game plan in place to make your travels safe and enjoyable. Have extra supplies in your vehicle to include a flashlight with extra batteries, water and food, first aid kit, and an emergency communication device. Also make sure your vehicle is current on its maintenance. Check your tires air pressure (including your spare tire), and look for deformities. Make sure you have a working jack and the necessary tools to change a flat tire.

If you are traveling expect delays due to heavier than usual traffic volume. Leave yourself plenty of time to make your destination. If you consume alcoholic beverages call a friend, a cab, or have a designated driver do the driving.

WSP wants everyone to do their part this weekend – buckle-up, don't drink and drive, and share the road. Be safe with your fireworks.
