SECTION 922(g)(1) - PERSONS WHO HAVE BEEN CONVICTED IN ANY COURT OF A CRIME PUNISHABLE BY IMPRISONMENT FOR TERM EXCEEDING ONE YEAR

A person convicted (including by a general court martial) of any offense punishable by imprisonment for a term exceeding one year, whether or not such term of imprisonment was imposed.

NOTES:

- The term crime punishable by imprisonment for a term exceeding one year does not include (a) any Federal or State offenses pertaining to antitrust violations, unfair trade practices, restraints of trade, or other similar offenses relating to the regulation of business practices, or (b) any State offense classified by the laws of the State as a misdemeanor and punishable by a term of imprisonment of two years or less.
- What constitutes a conviction of such a crime shall be determined in accordance with the law of the jurisdiction in which the proceedings were held. Any conviction which has been expunged, or set aside, or for which a person has been pardoned or has had civil rights restored, shall not be considered a conviction, unless such pardon, expungement, or restoration of civil rights expressly provides that the person may not ship, transport, possess, or receive firearms and the person is not otherwise prohibited by the law of the jurisdiction in which the proceedings were held from receiving or possessing any firearms.

A person may be an unlawful current user of a controlled substance even though the substance is not being used at the precise time the person seeks to acquire a firearm or receives or possesses a firearm.
- An inference of current use may be drawn from evidence or a recent use or possession of a controlled substance or a pattern of use or possession that reasonably covers the present time. For example,
 - A conviction for use or possession of a controlled substance within the past year; or
 - Multiple arrests for use or possession of a controlled substance within the past five years if the most recent arrest occurred within the past year; or
 - A person found through a drug test to use a controlled substance unlawfully, provided the test was administered within the past year.
- For a current or former member of the Armed Forces, an inference of current use may be drawn from recent disciplinary or other administrative action based on confirmed drug use (e.g., court-martial conviction, non-judicial punishment, or an administrative discharge based on drug use or drug rehabilitation failure).
- As defined in 21 U.S.C. §802 and 21 C.F.R. Part 1308, the term “controlled substance” includes but is not limited to marijuana, depressants, stimulants, and narcotic drugs. The term “controlled substance” does not include distilled spirits, wine, malt beverages, or
